Laura Helyer, a talented young writer and graduate of St Andrews University, was the first recipient of the GAMA (Gatliff/Angus Macleod Archive) award in 2009. This is funded by The Gatliff Trust and The Islands Book Trust to allow students to spend time in the Western Isles in order to carry out their research, which is then published. Laura was inspired by the life and work of Angus 'Ease' Macleod (1916-2002) of Calbost, South Lochs, Lewis. This booklet contains a range of poems and a short essay based on her visits to Lewis in the Summer of 2009
